Some Items of Fact, Some of Comment and All Helping to Give an Idea of What Our Neighbors Are Saying and Doing.

Chester Reporter, July 25: Dr. Robt. G. Lee, pastor of the First Baptist church, will take about 30 members of his Pastor's Communion band of boys on a two-days' camping trip to Wooten's pasture. This is an organization for boys from 10 to 17 years of age, the object of which is to train the boys in Bible and Mission study, to assist the pastor in any work of the church, to find wholesome recreation in clean sport. Work on the Seaboard passenger station will begin August 1st, according to a letter to the Chamber of Commerce from the Elliott Building Co., Hickory, N. C. Nelson and Mary Davis, a colored couple, residing on Pickney street near the city limits, were fined fifty dollars each this morning by Recorder Douglas for storing and having alcoholic liquors in their possession. A small still was found in the Davis house Saturday by officers. Misses Carrie Means, of Fountain Inn, Annie Mae Russell, of Anderson, Maud Barron and Frankie Jackson, of Yorkville, and Mrs. Virginia Glenn, of Rock Hill, are with Mrs. Jessie Hardin for the Simril-Hicklin wedding, Wednesday. In the course of his sermon at Bethel M. E. church last night, Rev. A. Rufus Morgan, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, took occasion to pay his respects to carnivals and criticized the County Fair association for providing an attraction of this character for the fair, which, he said, is supposed to be an exposition of the county's agricultural and other resources, and not in a large measure a collection of cheap and in many cases objectionable shows. The argument, he said, that the fair cannot be made to pay unless a carnival is included among the attractions may be true, but better a loss than to bring something into the community which is detrimental to public morals. Funeral services over the remains of Mr. James M. Caldwell, who died Friday morning at his home in the Hazelwood section, were held at Hopewell A. R. P. church Saturday morning, and were conducted by Rev. E. H. Franklin, assisted by Rev. W. A. Kennedy and Dr. Flournoy Shepperson. Interment was in Hopewell church graveyard. Mr. Caldwell died suddenly, being taken violently ill shortly after he had eaten his breakfast, and passed away in a few minutes. He was in Chester the day before, and though showing signs of increasing infirmity for some time past he had been able to carry on his business in his accustomed manner, and complained very little.

Lancaster News, July 26: In a consignment of 44 bodies of heroes returned from overseas and reaching Columbia yesterday was Pvt. Edmund B. Langley, of Abbeville. One Hundred and Fourth Infantry. The deceased was well known in Lancaster, having held a position with J. F. Mackey company prior to his entering the service. Albert Mitchell, a negro living on the farm of Henry Smith near Riverside, died Friday night from wounds received earlier in the day when he accidentally shot himself. He is said to have gone into the yard to shoot a chicken with a shotgun and in some way the gun was discharged prematurely the load entering his body. Mrs. Annie Phillips, wife of Vernon Phillips, of the Primus section of the county, died at her home Saturday afternoon after a few days illness, aged 24 years. Mrs. Phillips was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter and was a highly esteemed Christian young woman. Funeral services were held at the home and the burial was at Union church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. T. J. Daimery conducted the services. Married July 24, 1921 by Paul Moore, clerk of court, Miss Lillie Marks of Waxhaw, and Calvin C. Hinson, of Rock Hill.

Gastonia Gazette, July 26: Misses Evelyn and Ora Gettys, of York, S. C., stopped a short while in the city with friends Monday on their way to Charlotte. People of Gastonia and vicinity do not yet appreciate what an entertaining program is in store for them when the State Firemen meet here in August. The tournament that accompanies the association is always spectacular and full of interest. Mr. R. H. Flyler and family narrowly escaped death Sunday morning just below Rock Hill when their automobile was struck by a train and completely demolished. Mr. Otis Hope is spending his vacation this week at his home in York county, S. C. Mr. Richard Alexander, one of the oldest men of the city, died at his home at 402 North Marietta street at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Death was due to dropsy along with some injuries resulting from a fall about 15 months ago. Mr. Alexander had not been in good health for the past year and for the past three weeks his condition steadily grew worse until he entered a state of unconsciousness four days ago from which he never awakened. The Howitzer Company of National Guards returned to the city Monday after 15 days of hard work, and intensive training, during which it was found to be one of the best companies in the whole camp. Misses Martha Brandon and Sara Logan, of York, S. C., spent a short while in town with friends this morning, stopping on their way to Spartanburg, where they will join a party from Winthrop College, which is starting on a tour to California and other parts of the west. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, of Clover, S. C., were in town shopping today.

Cleveland Star (Shelby) July 26: Information was received in Shelby Monday of the death of Walter Price, former first baseman on the Shelby up-town baseball club. Price was about 30 years of age and a fine young chap. He lived near Gastonia and went to a Gastonia hospital about a week ago for an operation for appendicitis which was the cause of his death. The bond election in Shelby Saturday on the question of issuing $30,000 worth of bonds with which to build a new grammar school building carried by a majority of 141 votes. There were 481 registered and the vote stood 92 against bonds and 253 for bonds. It is rumored that an effort will be made on the part of those against the bonds to prevent their sale. Mr. Jim Spangler has sold a house and lot in West Shelby to Mr. Frank Glenn for $4,000. The Ladies Rest Room which has been fitted up in the court house by the ladies of the Woman's Club of Shelby for the convenience of the public is an institution which has long been needed. Ladies come in town from near-by and distant points on shopping expeditions with no place to go for a rest after they are wearied from tramping around and this rest room furnishes a place for rest and repose. Not only are the ladies of the Woman's Club to be congratulated, but the business men of Shelby are to be thanked for contributing furnishings to make this place homelike and comfortable. Mothers with babies will find that the child was not forgotten in the furnishings, for a baby crib is provided where baby can take a nap and mother can have a resting period. The rest room is conveniently located in the north-western corner of the court house. There are two rooms in a quiet and private quarter and the ladies are invited to use them as they see fit. Legal action leading to a receivership is in progress for the National Clay Products company, an Indiana corporation which has been mining kaolin, talc and other minerals and clay in the Union community. Several judgments have been docketed. It is understood there is some friction between the stockholders over the control of the company which has valuable machinery at the mines.

men mount their pulpits costless and collarless, after the fashion of Billy Sunday, to refresh their congregations by discussions of hell's fire. Even judges have been sitting in negligees, discarding their traditional wigs and gowns, to the astonishment of learned counsel. Health officials and meteorologists are equally puzzled and apprehensive. Yesterday was the nineteenth day of the drought in England and the fresh water supply is nearly exhausted. Crops are as good as abandoned in many regions, having been burned by the sun and the fields have a brown, autumnal aspect. The health officers are no less pleased than puzzled to be able to state that public health is extraordinarily good, there being comparatively little illness except from sunstroke. The streets of London, bear resemblance to those of cities in India, for men are going about wearing white, with helmets, usually associated with tropic service and sunburn. Some meteorologists attribute the heat to spots on the sun. Others say it is due to the "altering of the path of the Atlantic depression." The public takes its choice and talks about the weather. There are learned predictions that the rainfall of Great Britain will continue to be insufficient until 1925. Experiments are being carried out in desperate efforts to induce rainfall. Aerial bombardments are heard every night and aeroplanes flying at extreme heights are setting off nitro-glycerine charges among the clouds to jettison out of them whatever precipitation they may contain, which appears to be nil. Last night a new experiment was tried, that of setting off huge bulbs of liquid air.

—London writes a correspondent under date of last Friday, is gasping for breath in the warmest temperature recorded in five years and the oldest conventions in the country are shivering like the premature brown leaves of the roadside trees. For the first time in history English clergymen mount their pulpits costless and collarless, after the fashion of Billy Sunday, to refresh their congregations by discussions of hell's fire. Fly Screens . . .

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOURS YET? If you haven't DO IT NOW. The filthy, disease-bearing FLY is already on his job and a fly is a very democratic animal—he will light on the filthiest place possible and in ten seconds fly right through your window and crawl across your dining table just at dinner time. Pretty picture, isn't it? Well, it is all right for the other fellow, if it suits him; but we are sure you don't want such a picture in your home. Do you? No. Then see us for FLY SCREENS—real, sure enough Fly Screens—Screens that are made to the measure of your doors and your windows—that fit and are fit. That are better than the ordinary made-by-the-million kind of fly screens—Ours will cost you a little more, yes, and the difference in the cost will be forgotten in the better service and longer life of our Screens. Phone us about it TODAY.
